Introduction

LocalBuds: Service Finding will provide a platform to people to find and hire local independent contractors. Examples of such services might include painting, lawn cutting or A/C repair, among a plethora of others. Potential clients would be able to view services, read reviews, find contact info, and eventually leave a review. For those providing a service, the site will have the ability to post a new service listing with service type, contact info, and reference images. After that, those who are seeking that service may find the post and contact the service provider directly.

The motive behind this application is that it can sometimes be difficult to find and compare local contractors quickly and effectively. We aim to allow users to easily find all sorts of handymen at one place without having to explore many sites for one job.
